POST ELECTION STATEMENT – GIBA CHAIRMAN PATRICK FIRTH

'It was certainly an interesting result in terms of new faces, returning politicians and those losing their seats. Giba is sorry to see Kevin did not retain his seat. He has worked extremely hard on behalf of industry in general and finance in particular and for that we thank him.

'However we look forward to working with the new States and are always available to assist on matters relating to industry and the economy. The next step is for the new House to agree membership of committees quickly so that there is as little disruption as possible.

'We don't want uncertainty surrounding our government although some is of course unavoidable around an election. Our congratulations go to those who were successful.'
